Environmental Humanities in a Changing World

Friday and Saturday, March 8-9, 2013, 9:00-5:00 p.m • Guyot Hall Room 10

This two-day conference brings together leaders from a range of fields in the environmental humanities, as well as prominent artists producing work with environmental significance. The goal is to both provide succinct overviews of these fields and an introduction to this art, as well as to consider how these various approaches can work together for the future of our planet.