

Destiny Studies for a Small Planet

A symposium celebrating Robert Socolow's 48 years commitment to environmental problem-solving at Princeton.

Monday, April 15, 2019

7:45 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Maeder Hall, Andlinger Center for Energy and the Environment

Seating will be limited; live streaming will be available on <http://mediacentrallive.princeton.edu/>

7:45-8:30 a.m.	Breakfast available
8:30-8:40 a.m.	Welcomes Lynn Loo, Director, Andlinger Center for Energy and the Environment, Professor of Chemical and Biological Engineering, Princeton Michael Celia, Director, Princeton Environmental Institute, Professor of Civil and Environmental Engineering, Princeton
8:40-9:00 a.m.	Rationale for the symposium Robert Socolow, Princeton
9:00-9:50 a.m.	Conversation One: Climate science and risk assessment Isaac Held, Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory and Princeton Tapio Schneider, Environmental Science and Engineering, Caltech Nadir Jeevanjee, Geosciences, Princeton
9:50-10:10 a.m.	Coffee and tea break
10:10-11:00 a.m.	Conversation Two: Planetary norms Edith Brown Weiss, Georgetown Law Melissa Lane, University Center for Human Values, Princeton Harold Shapiro, President Emeritus, Economics and Public Affairs
11:00-11:50 a.m.	Conversation Three: Toward denuclearization of the world Frank von Hippel, Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton Robert Keohane, Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton
11:50 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.	Lunch

1:00-2:00 p.m.	Conversation Four: Energy and development José Goldemberg, University of São Paulo Ashok Gadgil, Civil and Environmental Engineering, U.C. Berkeley Phillip Hannam, The World Bank Christopher Greig, University of Queensland and Andlinger Center, Princeton
2:00-2:50 p.m.	Conversation Five: Wedges from the biosphere Stephen Pacala, Ecology and Evolutionary Biology, Princeton David Hawkins, Natural Resources Defense Council
2:50-3:10 p.m.	Break
3:10-4:00 p.m.	Conversation Six: Energy technology and policy Robert Williams, Princeton Ryan Edwards, U.S. Congress Joseph Majkut, Niskanen Center John Holdren, Kennedy School, Harvard
4:00-4:30 p.m.	Reflections John Harte, Energy and Resources Group, Berkeley
4:30-5:00 p.m.	Closing remarks Robert Socolow, Princeton
5:30-7:30 p.m.	Reception, Guyot Hall atrium